FOREWORD

Through the high school years, ones school life may center around different phases. One may be interested in sports, music, academic work, or just time to be a philosopher. Whatever it may be, there is still one main goal and that is to obtain an education. Through hard work and study, we can achieve this goal.

During the past year, I have had the wonderful experience of being the editor of this yearbook. I have learned much from this position in the areas of leadership and responsibility. It has given me a great deal of satisfaction and pride to have had a part in preparing this book.
